A MESSAGE FROM THE OFFICE OF EQUITY DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION

Dear Bobcat Community,

Welcome to the Fall 2021 semester! We're excited for a new academic year, which brings new possibilities and opportunities for members of the campus community. We strive to achieve inclusive excellence stretching beyond the boundaries of comfort to engage across cultures, appreciating and leveraging the rich diversity of our campus community. The Office of Equity, Diversity, and inclusion seeks to foster inclusive learning and work environment that promotes an understanding of, and appreciation for, difference through initiatives, programs, services, and training.

The Office of Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion (OEDI) serves as a central hub of resources, tools, and information to create an inclusive space for students, staff, and faculty, and our local community. This edition of our Bobcat Brief highlights some of our recent and future work as well as that of our campus partners.

You are invited to view our website at diversity.ucmerced.edu for additional information. If you are interested in submitting any materials for an upcoming EDI Newsletter, please visit our website for more information, and we would be happy to amplify your efforts. With you,
Office of Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion

THE OFFICE OF EQUITY, DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION EXCITEDLY WELCOMES OUR INTERIM ASSOCIATE CHANCELLOR AND CHIEF DIVERSITY OFFICER CECIL HOWARD!

Cecil Howard is a licensed attorney, and most recently served as the Associate Vice President for Diversity, Inclusion and Equal Opportunity and Chief Diversity Officer for the University of South Florida where he led many first time initiatives including a Minority Post-Doctoral Fellowship Program to recruit and retain more faculty of color, an Emerging Scholars program to recruit students of color, a Dismantling Racism & Bias Dialogue Study Circle Project to address issues of equity, racism, and anti-racism on a campus-wide basis, a National Model for Excellence in Diversity & Inclusion to assist individual academic units with achieving inclusive excellence, a National Diversity

Conference that was eventually cancelled due to Covid, and an enhanced University Hiring Policy to ensure diversity, equity and inclusion were paramount at all stages of the hiring process, just to name a few.

Cecil has spent the bulk of his career fighting injustices and ensuring equal opportunity and access for all people either through the court systems or the various administrative agencies such as the EEOC. He formerly served as Chief Legal Counsel for the State of Florida's Commission for Civil Rights, as well as a Charter Officer and Director for the City of Gainesville, Florida's Office of Equal Opportunity. He has also served as Chief Diversity Officer for Shippensburg University.

OEDI looks forward to the experiential knowledge that Cecil brings to our campus, and the critical impact he will have during his time here. In his first week, he has expressed a clear passion, excitement, and dedication for this work and for advancing equity and justice at UC Merced. Cecil speaks highly of our campus and clearly seeks to engage in a collaborative effort in which we amplify our existing EDI champions and create substantial institutional shifts to move the needle towards inclusive excellence. Please join us in welcoming Cecil to our Bobcat Community!

YOURS TRULY,
UC Merced's Office of Equity, Diversity and Inclusion Team

OUR DIVERSITY STATEMENT (ENGLISH)

At UC Merced we steadfastly uphold the concepts expressed in the University of California Diversity Statement including, “the variety of personal experiences, values, and world views that arise from differences of culture and circumstance. Such differences include race, ethnicity, gender, age, religion, language, abilities/disabilities, neurodiversity, sexual orientation, gender identity, socioeconomic status, geographic region, and more.”

We affirm that a diverse campus furthers our mission to create, interpret, and disseminate knowledge and values. The manifold diversity of our community encourages each of us to reflect on intellectual and cultural orthodoxies, and thus stimulates the creativity at the heart of our academic mission as a research university.

We take pride in serving a large population of first-generation college students, including the broad representation of background on our campus as a Hispanic (HSI), Minority (MSI), and Asian American and Native American Pacific Islander (AANAPISI) serving institution. As a common goal, we will work together to ensure all members of our academic community reflect the multiplicity of identities in our region.

Our commitment to diversity will foster our ability to thrive in a complex world.

Approved March 15, 2019, by the Chancellor’s Advisory Council on Campus Climate, Culture and Inclusion (CCCI) at UC Merced.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, MERCED, is a public, land-grant institution created to serve the communities of the San Joaquin Valley, the State of California, the nation, and the world through excellence in education, research, and public service. These principles reflect our ongoing efforts to increase access and inclusion and to create a community that nurtures lifelong learning and growth for all of its members. We encourage every member of the UC Merced community to join us in our collective pursuit of these principles:

W E . . .

- Recognize and celebrate the identities, values, and beliefs of our community.
- Affirm the inherent dignity and value of every person while cultivating a campus climate rooted in mutual respect and compassion.
- Uphold the right to freedom of expression and encourage a culture of dialogue, understanding, and civility in all interactions.
- Seek to create a campus where a rich tapestry of ideas is shared, collaboration is embraced, and innovation is promoted.
- Pursue excellence in teaching and learning through contributions from all community members fostering a culture of open exchange.
- Promote opportunities for active participation and leadership in our communities.
- Champion civic engagement, environmental stewardship, research, and teaching that connects theory and practice to learning and doing.
- Take pride in building, sustaining, and sharing a culture that is founded on these principles of unity and respect.

The UC Merced Principles of Community were developed by the Chancellor's Advisory Council for Campus Climate, Culture and Inclusion in collaboration with the campus community. These principles were issued on march 25th, 2014

AAHHE

About AAHHE: The American Association of Hispanics in Higher Education (AAHHE) is a national, educational, non-profit 501(c)3 organization dedicated to enabling Hispanic professionals to fully participate in a diverse society. AAHHE works collaboratively with all sectors of education, business, industry, as well as community and professional organizations to enhance the educational aspirations and to meet the needs of a significantly increasing Hispanic population.

AAHHE invites proposals for its 2022 conference to be held on March 10-11, 2022 and hosted by Nevada State College (Henderson, NV). For 'Save the Date' information, please click here.

In 2022, AAHHE is planning a return to an in-person convening; conference sessions will also be live-streamed. The theme 'Cultivating Justicia con Amor y Querencia' aims to showcase the transformative work happening within the Latinx community. The current precarious times lead us to foster higher education environments that center amor (love) and querencia (intentional care) in the pursuit of justicia (justice); querencia is the care received within a space that is safe, affirming, empowering and feels like home through the unwavering amor from those within such a space.

AAHHE hopes that by striving for justice through amor and querencia, higher education leaders will enact policies and practices that move beyond coping with injustices and instead offer healing moments for Latinx/a/o communities. AAHHE invites proposals that:

- Transform the landscape of higher education.
- Demonstrate institutional efforts that foster healing and empowerment for Latinx/a/o communities.
- Are rooted in asset-based perspectives.
- Showcase various approaches to justice-oriented work in higher education.
- Define the way in which amor is integrated in policy and practices that promote justice-oriented engagement supporting the
- Latinx/a/o community; and/or
- Exemplify policies and practices enacted in higher education that build on sense of belonging in higher education to foster querencia and that inform identity, provide a place of belonging, and sense of safety for Latinx/a/o students, faculty, and staff.

Deadline for submission of conference proposals is Thursday, September 30th, 2021, 11:59 p.m. EST via the AAHHE submissions portal. For information on the conference theme, strands, submission types, how to submit a conference proposal, and the proposal review process, please click here.

A call to action:

Striving towards inclusion in academic biology

The meaning beyond the words: How language, race, & culture impact science teaching & learning

This presentation explores how race, culture, and language intersect to create the condition of contemporary learning. For years, research on the language of classrooms explored how the way we say things impacts students' sense of belonging. Despite this research, STEM education has failed to adequately explore how issues of race, language, and culture shape the outcomes of teaching and learning in science. Through a sequence of research, this presentation explores the theoretical and pragmatic aspects of this dilemma. From a theoretical perspective, the talk will explore the Language-Identity dilemma. As students learn, the way academic language is taught to them can present a cognitive and cultural conflict. From a cognitive perspective, if science is taught without respect to the implications of how language is learned, students can be misunderstood and misunderstand the teacher's complex discourse. From a cultural conflict perspective, students may feel they are cultural outsiders when the language of the classroom positions them as outsiders. The presentation provides an overview of a series of qualitative and quantitative experiments that document the realities of this complex interaction.

An initiative sponsored by the Society for the Advancement of Biology Education Research (SABER) focused on promoting awareness, understanding, and commitment to change academic biology environments to be more inclusive. We are excited that speakers will be compensated for their time and this event is co-sponsored the SEISMIC Collaboration, and the ASU RISE Center.

BLACK LIVES MATTER

The enduring legacy of slavery, segregation, racism and oppression in America must be addressed systemically. As we stand in the flames of injustice, merely condemning expressions and acts that dehumanize, silence and kill is not enough. We must go beyond and do more. UC Merced (UCM) is fully committed to addressing the systemic conditions that create injustice, a global scourge that has been perpetuated over centuries.

The "2021-2022 UC Merced Black Research Fellowship," funded by a private donor, is a fellowship program housed under the Dean of Students Office that provides four $2,500 research fellowships (2021-2022) for the creation of projects that demonstrate a commitment and ability to advance racial justice and black liberation at UC Merced.

ELIGIBILITY:

- UC Merced undergraduate and graduate students (must have a faculty project advisor), staff, and faculty. Awardees must be in good standing with the university.
- Available for the Fellowship Term: October 1st, 2021-May 6th, 2022
- Demonstrated commitment to and interest in advancing racial justice and black liberation at UC Merced.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS:

- Submit application by Friday, 9/24/21, 5pm at the following link: <https://tinyurl.com/UCMBRF>
 - Submit Resume/CV to:
Emily Alpert
DOS Office
Administrative Assistant
ealpert@ucmerced.edu

UCM BLACK RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP REQUIREMENTS:

- Create, implement and complete approved research project by May 6th, 2022 demonstrating a commitment to advancing racial justice and black liberation at UC Merced. Projects must be intersectional and address: anti-Blackness, anti-Black violence and policing, historical trauma and radical healing and/or black excellence and success.
- Complete Fellowship Term: October 1st, 2021-May 6th, 2022.
- Attend monthly 30-minute check in's with the UC Merced Black Research Fellowship Committee throughout fellowship term.
 - Present at the Spring 2022 Black Excellence Research Symposium on May 6th, 2022

BLM

The fellowship is open to all students, staff, and faculty. You may find the application here: <https://tinyurl.com/UCMBRF>.

Application materials are due Friday, September 24th, 2021 (5:00pm). Eligibility and other information can be found in the attached flyer or here.

Professor Mehrsa Baradaran will share her work on racial wealth gaps and generators of wealth in Black communities.

The webinar is part of the UC Council of Chief Diversity Officers' Distinguished Scholars series. Each event features a notable UC faculty member who has made significant contributions to public policy and the study of racial inequality through their research, teaching and mentorship.

The webinar is open to all members of the UC community and will be recorded for future access. Professor Baradaran's presentation will be followed by an audience Q&A session.

Mehrsa Baradaran is a professor of Law at UCI Law. She writes about banking law, financial inclusion and racial inequality, and is the author of "How the Other Half Banks" and "The Color of Money." Baradaran and her books have been featured in the New York Times, Atlantic, Slate, American Banker, the Wall Street Journal and Financial Times; on NPR's Marketplace, C-SPAN's Washington Journal and PBS NewsHour; and as part of TEDxUGA. She has advised U.S. senators and congressmen on policy, testified before the U.S. Congress, and spoken at national and international forums like the U.S. Treasury and the World Bank.

As we prepare to return to campus, many of us – faculty, students, and staff alike – are still experiencing heightened levels of stress and anxiety in response to the global pandemic, financial uncertainty, sustained social isolation, racially motivated violence, and divisive politics. These challenges have exacerbated the mental health crisis at universities.

The Office of Equity, Diversity and Inclusion invites you to our September Virtual Dialogue Lunch & Learn session, “Return To Campus: Supporting Our Bobcat Community Through Trauma Informed Practices,” on Tuesday, September 28th at 12 - 1:30pm. Our special guest is becky martinez from Infinity Martinez Consulting.

Dr. Becky Martinez is a consultant and trainer with a focus on social justice, leadership and organizational change. Her work centers on engaging dynamics of privilege and oppression through authentic dialogue and reflection. She provides theory and concepts related to equity and inclusion as a framework to support organizations to become more inclusive with their policies, procedures and practices.

PREVIOUS VIRTUAL DIALOGUE SERIES

JANUARY 14-16TH 2021

The Picture a Scientist screening and discussion panel provided members of our campus community with a critical space to reflect on issues of equity both in STEM and in the broader context of academia. The conversation went beyond equitable access on the basis of gender and to an intersectional perspective that included all marginalized communities. While the session was not recorded in order to allow folks to be their truest self regarding their experiences, the discussions that took place will likely have a lasting effect as important ideas were shared and valuable connections were made.

FEBRUARY 4TH 2021

In conversation with Dr. Yashica Crawford, we explored ways of getting comfortable with being uncomfortable and choosing to be BOLD when it's time to speak. Guest Presenter: Dr. Yashica Crawford, is an Instructor in the Behavioral Sciences Department at the College of Marin & Chioma Ndubuisi, She has a bachelor's degree in Computer Information Systems from California State University, Chioma is passionate about the transformative power of technology and volunteers for opportunities that empower women and girls. She enjoys reading inspirational books and listening to Afrobeat music.

MARCH 17TH 2021

In conversation, featuring Ma Vang she is an Assistant Professor and founding chair of Critical Race and Ethnic Studies at the University of California, Merced. Her book, History on the Run: Secrecy, Fugitivity, and Hmong Refugee Epistemologies (Duke University Press, 2021), examines how secrecy structures both official knowledge and refugee epistemologies about militarism and forced migration. In History on the Run Ma Vang examines the experiences of Hmong refugees in the United States to theorize refugee histories and secrecy, in particular those of the Hmong. Vang conceptualizes these histories as fugitive histories, as they move and are carried by people who move. In so doing, Vang outlines a methodology for writing histories that foreground refugee epistemologies despite systematic attempts to silence those histories.

APRIL 22ND 2021

In modern times, people don't generally realize that there were once thousands and thousands of Native Americans in California. Nor do they realize that well over 100 different indigenous languages were once spoken across the State, with rich cultural diversity that varied according to various factors, including physical geography. Why don't people know this? This is because the 1800s and into the 1900s, scores of California indigenous people were killed off by genocide, illness, and many forms of social injustice. Well into the 1900s, these people were forced to give up their identities, land, and cultural practices.

OFFICE OF EQUITY, DIVERSITY & INCLUSION

Uprooting Inequity

SEMINARS

The Office of Equity, Diversity & Inclusion would like to invite you to participate in a virtual seminar series Uprooting Inequity by Ayo Magwood. Uprooting Inequity offers in-depth, evidence-based remote seminars on the history, economics, and behavioral science of structural racism. All seminars consist of a 90-minute presentation followed by an (optional) 1-hour discussion.

Uprooting Inequity will be a great resource for all the UC Merced as we move forward in addressing equity and justice. Each of the Uprooting Inequity Seminars will build upon each session. Participants who complete the mandatory sessions with additional three (3) will be recognized and receive a certification of completion to add to their portfolio.

ABOUT AYO MAGWOOD

Ayo Magwood (Uprooting Inequity LLC) is an educational consultant specializing in in-depth, evidence-based education on the history, economics, sociology, and cognitive psychology of structural racism. She also equips institutions with the tools and strategies to foster more productive conversations about racism using her “perspectives consciousness approach.” Her “ProEquity” model is a K-12 instructional approach for teaching an inclusive and critical/honest curriculum that also fosters perspectives consciousness, civic skills and dispositions, and a shared “we” identity. She has over 10 years of classroom experience in both majority low-income Black/Latino charter schools and majority high-income White private schools. Ayo has a B.A. in economics and international relations from Brown University and a M.Sc. in applied economics from Cornell University.

SEMINARS

The Office of Equity, Diversity & Inclusion is offering the Uprooting Inequity Seminars to all faculty, staff and students. Providing seven (7) seminars throughout the 2021 Fall Semester and participants who attends six (6 including the 3 mandatory sessions) of the seminars will be given a certificate of recognition and completion.

Uprooting Inequity offers in-depth, evidence-based remote seminars on the history, economics, and behavioral science of structural racism. All seminars consist of a 90-minute presentation followed by an (optional) 1-hour discussion. The first five seminars trace the history of anti-Black racism in the U.S. and build on each other, and thus are ideally taken in succession.

SAMANTHA TETANGCO
OCENA
HALA ALNAGAR

The continuation of this virtual discussion series is designed to help instructors (any discipline, all levels) form a community of reflective practice focused on improving pedagogy.

Together, we will:

- Explore the intersection between anti-racist teaching and anti-racist pedagogy
- Continue “unlearning” by examining how our assumptions and inherent practices influence classroom practice
- Discuss ways we can adjust those practices to be more inclusive and effective
- Share and learn some of the scholarship in this area
- Practice together shifts in our pedagogy
- Design course content that might be presented at an EDI teaching showcase in May.

The purpose of this series is not to hand down mandates and protocols, but to share experiences and create a space to collaborate with peers and support personal and professional growth.

EQUITY ADVANCING SHOWCASE ON EDUCATION

MULTI-DISCIPLINARY PERSPECTIVES ON ASPECTS OF ANTI-RACIST PEDAGOGY

LEARNING INVITATIONS • DECOLONIZED CURRICULUM • LIBERATORY PEDAGOGY • NON-VIOLENT ASSESSMENT

<https://diversity.ucmerced.edu/events/equity-advancing-showcase-education-ease>

The Office of Equity, Diversity & Inclusion, in partnership with the Center for Engaged Teaching & Learning, presents the Equity Advancing Showcase on Education (EASE), which served to explore different issues and practices associated with supporting equity, diversity, and inclusion as they are experienced within the classroom and other learning spaces. As the culminating event of a year-long multi-disciplinary learning community, EASE featured the work of UC Merced instructors who engaged in a collaborative discussion about anti-racist pedagogy and employed course redesign principles to develop more effective teaching practices that promote inclusivity and support transformative learning for our diverse student population. EASE also featured cross-disciplinary UC Merced panelists who discussed how to approach decolonizing pedagogy and showcased effective teaching strategies to help facilitate transformative learning for our student population.

EQUITY ADVANCING SHOWCASE ON EDUCATION (EASE) 2021 THEMES AND RECORDINGS

LEARNING INVITATIONS

Building on Purkey & Novak's ideas about intentionally "summoning students cordially" into our Learning spaces, this panel will explore strategies for building classroom community, revealing and decoding the "hidden curriculum," and language choices for essential course policies and documents (syllabi and assignments)

DECOLONIZED PEDAGOGY

Seeking for holding space for all cultures and knowledge systems in the curriculum and being aware that what is being taught frames the world, this panel will explore ways of reframing course CLO's, creating anti-racist course content, "flipping the classroom," helping students manage cognitive load, and identifying and leveraging students' community cultural wealth

LIBERATORY TEACHING

Disrupting the "banking system" of education and practicing Freire's critical pedagogy, the panel will explore decentering authority (the professor as "sage on the stage"), lifting students agency, and practicing transparent teaching in a culturally responsive manner

NON-VIOLENT ASSESSMENT

Symbolic violence replicates dominant norms, is manifested in the power differentials between groups and reinforced through coercive practices. This will explore the ways many traditional assessment practices violence against students and will propose an alternative that celebrates student assets (not deficits)

STAFF AND FACULTY OF COLOR

The Staff and Faculty of Color Association at UC Merced (SFCA) provide opportunities for members to develop a sense of community and strengthen their professional and social networks. Memberships are prioritized to staff (excluding student staff members) and faculty members who identify as People of Color (people from historically marginalized backgrounds). The goal of the group is to empower staff and faculty to engage in conversation about campus climate issues and to foster professional development.

Visit our Website for more information: <https://diversity.ucmerced.edu/>

LANGUAGE ACCESSIBILITY COMMITTEE

The charge of the Language Accessibility Committee members is to:

Create an inclusive environment where staff members can develop their cultural competencies when engaging parents, students and community members when representing the university. Identify experts each year such as faculty, staff, and community members that will review, and assess (terminology) oral fluency suitable for university programs. The dominant 2nd languages spoken on campus are Spanish and Hmong. Other languages will be incorporated as needed and with capacity. Advise campus leaders and the campus community when initiatives are developed to engage non-English speaking parents and community members. The commitment is to attend a monthly meeting, make recommendations about cultural and linguistic communication, and be available for university events to engage with parents, students, and community members.

Please contact LAC@ucmerced.edu for more information regarding the Language Accessibility Committee.

Watch the NADOHE
NorCal Summit

Learn about UC Merced's journey in leading Higher Education towards Inclusive Excellence. This session provides an overview of the establishment of the recently created Office of Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion led by Associate Chancellor and Chief Diversity Officer Dania Matos, JD. Showcasing the power in intentional partnerships, different campus stakeholders will present their unique efforts and contributions towards institutional equity and justice. The welcome was provided by Dr. Mary Wardell-Ghirarduzzi, President of the NorCal NADOHE Chapter and inaugural Vice President for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion at the University of the Pacific.

Learning outcomes include:

1. How to grow a new Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion (EDI) office
2. Highlight the process of implementing responsive new and existing initiatives
3. Showcase the power of effective partnerships across campus

We know that meditation and mindfulness can't solve everything. What mindfulness can do is help us look inside of ourselves to become aware of how racism lives within us and how it is perpetuated through us. In fact, several studies have suggested that mindfulness can reduce implicit racial bias (Link to research). The Calm team has been listening and asking ourselves how we can interrupt systemic racism and show up in solidarity with the Black community. This is - and will continue to be - a work in progress but I wanted to share some resources that could be helpful to share with your community.

1. We have tips for using mindfulness to stand in solidarity with the Black community. Please feel free to share this article or pull language from it to share with your team. How to use mindfulness to stand in solidarity with the Black community
2. We have our free resource page on our blog. Please share it with your community. No subscription is required to access the programs on this page: Calm.com/together
3. We've curated a list of Black voices in the wellness and mindfulness space. This is our first push to amplify Black voices, and won't be the last. You can access the list here: Amplify Black Voices.
